

Olivet Presbyterian Installs New Pastor, Opens Clothes Thrift Store

Olivet Presbyterian Church in Prospect Park will hold the ordination and installation of Kathy Hecht as pastor 6 p.m. Sun. (Sept. 20) during a Service in the Sanctuary.

The church will open a Beacon of Hope Clothes Closet. Bayly Kern, a young member of Olivet, is opening a Clothes Closet as her Girl Scout Gold Award and Interboro High School Senior Project. It is currently scheduled to open Sat. (Sept. 19) and she plans to have it open once or twice a month.

The shop will have inexpensive clothing for kids and adults in an effort to help community members during the tough economic time. Bayly and several of her friends, have been cleaning and renovating the top floor of Olivet plus sorting through tons of donated clothes since early June in preparation for the shop's grand opening.

Olivet Presbyterian Church turns 120 years old in October. For more information, call 610-534-2270.
